

Mortgage Rates Step Back

August 16, 2018

MCLEAN, Va., Aug. 16, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Freddie Mac (OTCQB: FMCC) today released the results of its Primary Mortgage Market Survey® (PMMS®), showing that mortgage rates decreased slightly for the second consecutive week.

Sam Khater, Freddie Mac's chief economist, says mortgage rates remained mostly flat over the past week, which has been the dominant theme since late spring. "This stability in borrowing costs comes despite the highest core inflation rates since 2008 and turbulence in the currency markets," he said. "Unfortunately, this pause in rates is not leading to increasing home sales."

Added Khater, "Purchase mortgage applications trailed year ago levels again last week, and it's clear that in some markets the combination of ascending home prices, limited affordable inventory and this year's higher rates are curtailing homebuyer demand."
